Henrietta Barker

Henrietta Barker began her professional life in the catering industry and trained as a Patisserie Chef at the famous London Cordon Bleu Cookery School. She changed direction after securing a position at a catering recruitment company and found her niche as a recruiter. After a few years Henrietta went to work for a leading secretarial and office support staffing recruitment company where she build up her desk quickly and with great success. It was this success that was the encouragement that she needed to go it alone and in 2006 she started her own agency working mainly with boutique companies in Central London until she began working on the new project, YouYou Ltd.

Hilly Barker

Hilly Barker began her career working for charitable organisations after having completed her Masters Degree in Human Rights at the Institute of Commonwealth Studies. She moved away from this to begin studying as a Counsellor and worked as a bereavement counsellor for some time before she trained as a Life Coach. Her work as a coach found her giving talks on how to improve peoples' lives as well as contributing to Sunday magazines and she eventually worked predominantly as a confidence coach. In 2006 she wanted a fresh challenge, a new direction and so she joined her sister working in the recruitment industry and has worked with her ever since.
